LEWELLING SPEAKS.

What the Probable Next Governor Has to Say on Topical Political Subjects.

He Has No Doubt of His Election by Safe Majority-His Opinion of the Populist Policy-Something About the Man.

Who is Lewelling? Well, to enlighten the public on that subject a reporter for the EAGLE rallied forth yesterday to meet the gentlemen if possible and to have an interview with him if he feft disposed to grant it. The first piace called at was the Populist headquarters in the Sedgwick block and there sure enough the gentle-man was found surrounded by a half a hundred of the sturdy commoners of this county all of whom were pouring their Lewelling is a splendid mixer and this

There is one thing very certain and that is if Mr. Lewelling could not be elected no other Populist could as he has all the element of strength from a populist standpoint, and for the further reason that his pres-ence and manners inspire the confidence of conservative men outside that party, who may have reasons for not voting an other ticket. When the reporter asked him for an interview, he said:

"Why, certainly; if I have any informs tion that the EAGLE wants I will be glad to give it. He is intelligent and conservative, and if all signs do not fail, he will make a fair, safe and impartial hold its semi-annual meeting in Wichita governor—if the final count should so de-on Saturday, Nov. 19. "Lewelling was at the Democratic beadquarters and it was interesting to note the tavor with which the fusion Democrats expressed themselves in regard to the re calcitrants.

"'Mitcheil would as well write out his resignation today, hadn't he?' asked Secernor. Before he had time to reply some this money she must not be outdone by one had inquired: 'How about Charley any other state in her exhibits at the gree, which will continue until Thursday evening the work of this money she must not be outdone by any other state in her exhibits at the gree, which will conclude the work of this Spencer and the Topeka police commis What are you going to do with sioners? Judge Emery?' asked another Democrat. To all of these questions Mr. Lewelling replied, 'I guess they will all have to go. "Lewelling's election means a complete reorganization of all the boards in the state and that Wichita will, for the first time, rule in Kansas politics."

He carefully read it, smiled two or three times, and finally looked up and re Mrs. Fred Waller, Mrs. Thos. Fitch, each marked: "I have not been so unwise as to outline any policy in spect to appointments, much to make any threats regarding removals and whatever may be done in the way or reorganization of state boards if anything, you may say that all the interests and localities of the state will be duly considered."

"Then you think there is no doubt as to "I do not doubt it for a moment; the entire ticket is elected from top to bottom. Speaking about the maximum freight rate bill he said, "It is impossible to fix a maximum rate bill which is inflexible and of one section of the state it might not be what is needed in another. Then, again, what is needed in one year might not be desrable the next."

Was the maximum rate bill passed last year an arbitrary one in your opinion? "It was not, for the reason that the proposed law provided also for a commission with power to set aside or modify the rate set forth in the schedule. Another point to that bill was overlooked or covered up by the Republicans in the discussion the question: For example it was said that the stock rate schedule if applied to this locality would be higher than the present rate. In reply ta this it may be id that the railroads themselves have siready given Wichita and some other localities special stock rates, and the maximum bill would offer no interference in such cases. In other words the rate fixed was only the maximum, or highest rate, leaving the roads at liberty to fix as much wer rate as they choose. In case your party has the legislature, will they, in your opinion, pass a maximum freight bill?

They will certainly enact some legisla tion looking to the control of freight rates; personally. I am inclined to favor a com mission, with power to fix rates, a commission composed of honest, capable and conservative men; men who are competent to ascertain the needs of the people, and to so adjust rates as will best serve all the interests of the state. The people of Kansas have no desire to do any injustice to railroads, but they firmly believe in their legal, moral and political rights to control the great highways of commerce to the end that they will be the servants of the people, rather than their masters." Would you favor the election of the railpeople?

"Ours is a popular government, and I think it is always safe to trust the people, and I see no good reason why they should not be given the right to select all the important officers of the state."

Are you receiving any applications for appointments?

"I have received some, but think it too early to consider these things yet. I have made no pledges so far, and it is a great satisfaction to me to feel that I am untrammelled, and in a position to do what people of the state." Do you think there will be any legislation relative to interest rates?

"I cannot say as to that; there can be no doubt that interest rates have been too high, when you consider that the total increase of wealth in the United States since the beginning of the government has not exceeded 3 per cent per annum. and that too, notwithstanding the increase in land values, the accession of large land grants and the increase of wealth producers in the way of population, leads me to think that it will be very evident to the legislawreathed in smiles and he evidently felt ture that we cannot psy 8, 10 and 12 per good over the result of the campaign.
